Edible Images

GMS Photography specializes in creating tantalizing images of your cuisine, drinks, restaurant, coffee—whatever you're proud of—for your menu, print advertising, and website. Developing and displaying “edible images” is an art, much as creating the cuisine for your establishment.

The problem with winking at someone in a dark room is that only you know you've done it. The same holds with creating masterful culinary delights without exhibiting it. Make patrons from the public by showing them your gastronomic expertise in beautifully shot photographs that reveal your restaurant's style, enthusiasm, and selections.

Gary Michael Smith is a commercial and art photographer whose works have been displayed throughout New Orleans art and photo galleries. His photographs also have been published in magazines from Architectural Digest to Cat Fancy. He is a member of the New Orleans Photo Alliance and the Photographic Society of America.

GMS Photography provides all images to the client in digital jpeg format organized on a labeled CD/DVD often with a 1-day turnaround. Prices vary depending on preparation, length of time for shooting, and quantity of images required but will be competitive in all cases. Call today for a free consultation and price quote!
